

Admission examination fees

You must pay the appropriate fees when registering for admission examinations. This is true even if you are writing an examination a second time after failing.

When you fail an examination, you must pay a fee if you request, in writing, that your results be re-evaluated.

This request must be accompanied by all the supporting documents in addition to the payment of the fee for the re-evaluation of an admission examination.

See ADMISSION EXAMINATIONS in the Fee Schedule.

With regard to the methods of payment, please note the following:

- 1) The registration fees for an admission examination will not, under any circumstances, be reimbursed if you do not show up for the examination.
- 2) If you cancel your registration for an examination by notifying the secretariat of the Order in writing, the fees will not be reimbursed or carried forward to pay the registration for a subsequent exam session.
- 3) Three methods of payment are accepted:
 - cheque or money order payable to the Ordre des ingénieurs du Québec
 - MasterCard or Visa credit card
 - debit card or cash — at the Order's offices only
